BURN MEXICO CITY IF IT IS TAKEN

Huerta Said to Prefer Loss of Capital by Fire Rather Than Rebel Capture

BRYAN ACKNOWLEDGES ARMS EMBARGO PROTEST

Villa Starts Artillery Forward for Torreon—Invasion of Jalisco Planned

MEXICO CITY, March 14.—Much popular apprehension was felt today as the result of publicity being given to the statement made by a prominent Mexican close to General Huerta that the dictator asserted that he will burn the Mexican capital if it is apparent that the rebels will capture it. Reports were confirmed that many have been killed in Juchitán, state of Oaxaca, as a result of the mutiny of soldiers of the federal garrison. Arrests in pay caused the mutiny.

The foreign office today received Secretary Bryan's acknowledgment of the receipt of General Huerta's protest against the raising of the embargo on arms. The note said merely that Washington had received Huerta's communication. Much satisfaction is felt here at the acknowledgment, official or unofficial, at the foreign office, as unless the protest had been acknowledged Huerta would have been compelled to give O'Shaughnessy his passport. Many Americans and other foreigners have received warnings on black-bordered paper ordering them to leave the country. The police hold it the work of jokers or cranks.

VILLA SENDS ARTILLERY OFF TOWARD TORREON

CHIHUAHUA CITY, March 14.—General Villa sent the last of his artillery toward Torreon today. He claims he has the strongest artillery division ever assembled in Mexico. He says that ammunition is plentiful. Villa still refuses to definitely fix the hour of his departure for Torreon, but intimates that it may be expected hourly. It is generally believed that he will delay over Sunday. News of desultory fighting at Torreon continues to leak in here but there is nothing definite.

ANOTHER REBEL DIVISION AGAINST A NEW STATE

DOUGLAS, Ariz., March 14.—Col. P. Elias Casas, ex-chief of the northern military zone of Sonora, was today made commander-in-chief of the military forces in Sonora, with headquarters at Hermosillo, succeeding General Alvaro Obregón, who has been chosen to lead a large Constitutional force into the state of Jalisco. This means another Constitutional campaign against another state. It is understood the invasion will follow an expected battle at Torreon.

FOREIGNERS PROMISED SAFETY BY CARRANZA

WASHINGTON, March 14.—Secretary of State Bryan today gave out a letter from Consul Shapich at Nogales in which he states that General Carranza has promised protection to foreigners in Sonora regardless of nationality. He still insisted that all nations other than the United States be represented at least unofficially in Northern Mexico.

EMANUEL PAYS TRIBUTE TO HIS FATHER'S MEMORY

ROME, March 14.—Unusual precautions were taken today when King Victor Emanuel, Queen Elena and Queen Mother Humbert attended the annual requiem mass over the tomb of King Humbert at the Pantheon. To prevent the possible repetition of another attempt against the life of the king similar to that made two years ago as he was driving to the mass, the streets leading from the Quirinal to the Pantheon were lined with troops and the squares in front of places massed with soldiers. Unusual interest attached to the service today because of the rendition by a select choir of a requiem mass selected through a national competition for the event.

PARCEL POST HERE TO STAY, SAYS SEN. KENYON

WASHINGTON, March 14.—Senator Kenyon of Iowa today declared that the voluntary dissolution of the United States Express Company means that the parcel post is here to stay without doubt. His statement was made on the floor of the Senate. He declared the charge that the parcel post is being conducted at a tremendous loss is an absolute falsehood.

Mrs. Pankhurst Wins Freedom by A Hunger Strike

LONDON, March 14.—Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst was released from Holloway prison again today, concluding the seventh installment of her imprisonment under the same sentence for suffrage militancy. She was on a hunger strike, and physicians said she would die soon unless she ate, and that forcible feeding would probably be fatal. At dawn six suffragettes with hammers smashed the lower floor windows of Home Secretary McKenna's home. They were arrested and sentenced to two months' imprisonment at hard labor.

25 SMUGGLED CHINKS HAVE BEEN CAPTURED

SAN PEDRO, March 14.—Several more Chinese, believed to have been smuggled into San Pedro last night, were captured today, bringing the total of those caught to twenty-five, following a raid on the alleged smugglers last night. The additional Chinese, Clinton Culver, ex-deputy sheriff, and Wm. Freeman, both of Ocean-side, are under arrest. The revenue cutter Bear, notified by wireless, took up the chase of the sloop believed to have landed the Chinese here.

KID MCCOY VERSUS CARPENTER

PARIS, March 14.—Kid McCoy, the American prize-fighter, and Georges Carpenter, who twice defeated the English champion, Bombardier Wells, and who holds the heavyweight championship of Europe, tonight will meet here in a scheduled twenty-round battle. The fight is announced as the "world's light heavyweight championship contest" and Paris today is crowded with fight fans from England, France and other European countries. Carpenter today was favored in the betting.

The Inside of the Party

"THE Progressive party," declares a Kansas paper, "should build a church or start a prayer meeting, and not run a party." Generally speaking, that is the opinion of people who have no religion in their politics and no politics in their religion. People of that sort regard politics as a mere scramble for offices, and do not see the deep spiritual significance of the worldwide movement of which the Progressive party in this country is but an humble and perhaps unworthy part. It is essentially religious. It has to do with Cain's old question, "Am I my brother's keeper?" and it looks toward making living conditions better for the poor. That is the law and the gospel of the Progressive platform. It is all there is to the world movement of this twentieth century. Religion, art, business, politics, commerce—every live thing in the world, is directed toward making conditions better for those who are in the lowest stratum of society. And so the world is growing better. Politics is helping—but only in part.—William Allen White.

PLACER COUNTY WANTS THEM NOT

Will Put Out Armed Men to Prevent Sending Unemployed Across Line

SACRAMENTO, March 14.—Another conference of peace officers of the counties of this section will be held here late today. They will discuss the situation of the unemployed army. Placer county authorities are remaining obdurate, refusing to permit the men to pass through their territory despite the pleas of sheriffs of Sacramento, Yolo and Contra Costa counties. Placer county threatens to send 2000 armed men to the county line to prevent Yolo and Sacramento counties from dumping men into their territory. Sacramento is maintaining guards at the bridge today, refusing to permit the men to pass through the city en route elsewhere until assurance is given by other communities that they will not turn them back here. The suggestion has been made to drive the men to the state university farm at Davis, near here. The matter would then be up to the state authorities as the farm is state property.

The latest suggested solution of the disposal of the army of the unemployed as evolved at a meeting of Central California sheriffs today was for each sheriff to take two or three hundred men to his county, thus breaking up the army. A company of armed deputies will be sent to each of the half dozen counties concerned and guard the men on their march to the various county seats where they will be distributed. If work is found or kept until they depart voluntarily, if the men refuse to go forceful methods will be used, but every effort will be made to break up the assembly without further violence. Many favored the plan and late today it seemed possible that plan might finally be adopted.

SUFFRAGISTS JOINED WITH PROGRESSIVES

CLEVELAND, March 14.—Woman Suffrage joined hands with the Bull Moose in a constructive way here today when 600 Progressives and suffragists sat down to a "drinking, smoking" banquet at the Chamber of Commerce Auditorium. Chief speaker was Miss Alice Carpenter, national organizer for the Progressive party in suffrage states, and Gifford Pinchot, former chief forester and candidate for the Bull Moose nomination for the United States senate in Pennsylvania. Prominent Ohio Progressive leaders were also on the program. The banquet was staged under the auspices of the Cuyahoga County Progressive Club.

MEANT AS GIFT BUT GIFT NOT LEGAL ONE

Dr. D. F. Royer Loses His Suit for $25,000 Against Mrs. Conn's Estate

EASTERN HEIRS ARE THOSE BENEFITTED

Judge Finds Signature Genuine, Faith Good, But Contracts Void

By a decision filed with the county clerk today, Judge F. R. Willis of Los Angeles rules that $25,000 claimed by Dr. D. F. Royer of Orange shall not be paid by the estate of Mrs. Caroline M. Conn. Dr. Royer sued to collect money that Mrs. Conn contracted to give him. In short, the superior judge ruled that the contracts aimed to make a gift, but that the provisions for gift are not legal as against the claims of the heirs.

Mrs. Conn was a well known resident of Santa Ana for many years. Her estate is appraised at $75,777.77, but is worth more than that as the executor, D. N. Kelly, has sold some of the property at better figures than were named by the appraisers. Mrs. Conn made a number of bequests to Santa Ana. All of these would have been paid regardless of the outcome of the contest. The bequests amount to about $62,000, and the residue of the estate is to go to nine eastern heirs. They are the ones who will benefit by the decision of Judge Willis, provided that his decision is not reversed on an appeal, which may be taken.

Dr. Royer with Williams & Ruten, attorneys, brought the action on two contracts. One of these was signed on September 19, 1912, and the other on October 9, 1911. By the first contract Mrs. Conn was to advance $25,000 for the promotion of a manufacturing plant. Dr. Royer should pay this money back out of the earnings of the plant, but in case of Mrs. Conn's death he should receive the money or the plant at his option. The second contract affirmed the first, with additional bonding statements. The defense, D. N. Kelly, as executor, with Scarborough & Forgy, attorneys, alleging that Mrs. Conn's name had been loaned to the documents, that it really signed by her, the contracts were given without consideration; that if signed, the signatures were secured by undue influence exerted by Dr. Royer by reason of the relationship of physician and patient.

The estate held a note of $2,500 against Dr. Royer, so that judgment for $24,500 was asked.

Judge Willis declared in his opinion that he is satisfied beyond all question that the signatures are genuine, and that Mrs. Conn signed the contracts freely and voluntarily and without undue influence by reason of relationship of physician and patient. He says that both parties signed the contracts in good faith.

The decision is made upon the point that there was no valuable consideration given for the contracts. While the judge holds that Mrs. Conn intended to make the gift, the law holds that such a gift at death cannot be made except in the legal way, which is by will.

The plaintiff asserted that he had given consideration for the gift in services rendered for Mrs. Conn and her husband in mining and land operations. The opinion closes as follows: "The defendant called the plaintiff as a witness on defendant's behalf, and established to the satisfaction of the court on his testimony that no service had been performed by plaintiff, either for decedent's husband during his lifetime or for decedent after her husband's death, except such service as had been freely discharged during their respective lifetimes."

"I am forced to the conclusion that there was no valid gift of the sum in controversy, no legal testamentary disposition of the same, that decedent was under no legal or moral obligation to execute the contract or either of them, that she received no benefit by reason of said contract, and that plaintiff suffered no detriment by reason of the execution of the same, that the instruments made the basis of the claim constituted a gift at death, that a gift at the death of the testator, which presumption, in law, is void, and there having been no consideration therefor, the contracts made the basis of this suit are void, and judgment and findings must go to the defendant."

WASHINGTON'S SALOONS TO GO. WASHINGTON, March 14.—The actual work of weeding out a number of the capital's saloons, under the Jones Works excise law, will begin Monday. The city's excise board had before it a mass of data showing what places will fall under the ban of the new law. This requires that saloons shall not be located near schools or churches. Up to a certain limit, the saloons are automatically abolished. Additional pruning, under a reduction clause of the law, will further reduce the establishments.

MISS DRAKE, PROGRESSIVE CANDIDATE FOR ALDERMAN IN CHICAGO, CAMPAIGNS AMONG WORKMEN'S WIVES

Miss Marian H. Drake, Progressive candidate for alderman in the first ward in Chicago against John J. Courthlin, has carried her campaign among the women of the south end of the ward. Miss Drake visited more than fifty households in a house-to-house canvass before she went to the loop district to attend matters connected with her law business. On her way to the loop district the woman candidate was hailed by a number of neighbors to whom she has become a familiar sight working in the business streets of the ward. At one corner she stopped to chat with a mounted policeman to learn some facts about the policing of the ward. Miss Drake has been joined in her campaign work by a number of her close friends. They gather daily with her at her headquarters. Among them are Misses C. W. Kayser, John P. Bass, Aris Black, George Bruner, J. L. Archer, A. H. Foss, Adele Symonds, E. L. Stillman, A. E. Slyn, and Jane Betts, and Miss H. Herpinning, Miss H. Ingersoll, and Dr. Clara Seippel.

KNOWLAND IN PROTEST TO CONGRESS

Files Minority Report Against Free Tolls Clause Repeal Proposed by Wilson

HE PROTESTS AGAINST BRITISH DEFINITIONS

Says Nation Has No Spokesman to Resist Domination of England

WASHINGTON, March 14.—Chargé d'Affaires Wilson, with "advocating President's cause," Congressman Knowland of California submitted to the house a minority report of the Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee on the proposed repeal of free tolls for American coast-wise shipping through the canal. His minority report asserts that British domination caused the presidential demand for the repeal and abandonment of the "United States" logical attitude toward the Monroe doctrine.

The report continues: "I vigorously protest against any attempt to force congress through legislative enactment, to give a British interpretation to the Hay-Pauncefote treaty, thus surrendering the rights which affect the United States commercially, strategically and politically. An unparalleled situation confronts the nation. The custodian of our rights and our agent dealing with foreign affairs has advocated England's cause and we are left without a spokesman."

2300 GIRLS OUT OF BOTH JOBS AND CASH

Siegel Company, Whose Stores Close Tonight, Responsible for Their Plight

NEW YORK, March 14.—The Fourteenth street store and the Simpson-Crawford Stores Corporation, owned by the Siegel Company, will close their doors tonight by court order. Twenty-three hundred girls, many of them destitute, will be thrown out of employment. The failure of the Siegel corporation is responsible for their condition as many of them had their entire savings deposited in the Siegel bank. District Attorney Whitman said today: "We have unearthened evidence showing that Henry Siegel and his partners are culpable and they must pay for it. We will accept no compromise. Eight hundred and fifty girl employees lost their savings as well as the money paid into the sick benefit fund which was loaned to the Siegel bank."

Depositors Insane. Depositors of the Siegel bank conferred this afternoon. They declared that five depositors had gone insane. Frank Champion, Siegel's private secretary, it was reported, had announced his willingness to turn state's evidence and tell of the alleged diverting of money to various enterprises without any security.

LIVING LIGHT GOES UP LIGHT GOES DOWN

Study the following illustration. The size of these lamp globes is in exact proportion to the purchasing power of light for ONE DOLLAR—1908 compared with 1914.

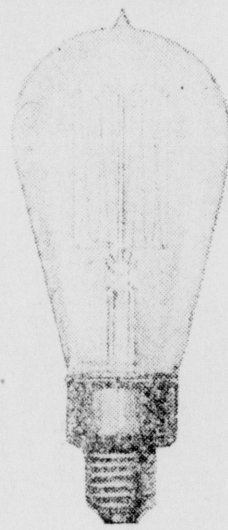

1908
One Dollar Purchased
1904 Candle Hours of Electric Light

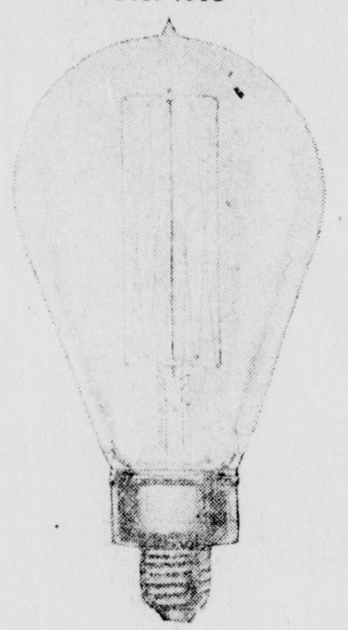

1910
One Dollar Purchased
3076 Candle Hours of Electric Light
62% Increase in Illumination Over 1908

1912
One Dollar Purchased
6000 Candle Hours of Electric Light
320% Increase in Illumination Over 1908

1914
One Dollar Purchases
11428 Candle Hours of Electric Light
500% Increase in Illumination Over 1908

Now you are enjoying a 7 cent per kilowatt maximum lighting rate, with free lamp renewals. The rate decreases to a minimum of 2½ cents per kilowatt hour, the scale of reduction being in proportion to the amount consumed.

Nine years of voluntary rate reduction is our record. New rates (effective March 1st, 1914) show the enormous cheapening in light, while nearly all other commodities of life have continuously advanced.

COULD NOT STAND ON FEET

Mrs. Baker So Weak—Could Not Do Her Work—Found Relief In Novel Way.

Adrian, Mich. — "I suffered terribly with female weakness and backache and got so weak that I could hardly do my work. When I washed my dishes I had to sit down and when I would sweep the floor I would get so weak that I would have to get a drink every few minutes, and before I did my dusting I would have to lie down. I got so poorly that my folks thought I was going into consumption. One day I found a piece of paper blowing around the yard and I picked it up and read it. It said 'Saved from the Grave,' and told what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for women. I showed it to my husband and he said, 'Why don't you try it?' So I did, and after I had taken two bottles I felt better and I said to my husband, 'I don't need any more,' and he said 'You had better take it a little longer anyway.' So I took it for three months and got well and strong." — Mrs. ALONZO E. BAKER, 9 Tecumseh St., Adrian, Mich.

SEWER FARM A CITRUS GROVE

City's Twenty Acres is Planted by City to Valencia Oranges

ANAHEIM, March 14.—The city sewer farm, consisting of twenty acres, has been planted to Valencia oranges by the caretaker, Charles Rockwell.

Rockwell is an experienced orchardist and the new project has been conducted along model lines. The limboff septic tanks in use on the farm, pronounced the most efficient of the kind, have attracted considerable attention from neighboring cities, and make various experiments of an agricultural nature possible.

The petition of property owners on Resh and Citron streets, asking that street lights be installed on these two streets respectively, were granted at the meeting of the city council held last evening. It was agreed that the petitioners stand half of the expense of installing the lights.

WILL MAKE NOVEL DEMONSTRATION WITH CARTERCAR

Local Agent of Friction-Drive Car Will Prove Strength of Transmission and Pulling Power of Motor

R. L. Draper, local agent for the Cartcar, is arranging a novel demonstration of the Cartcar for next Tuesday afternoon—a demonstration that will test the strength of the friction drive as well as the power of the motor. The friction drive has made the car famous as a pleasure vehicle, and promises to make trucks of that manufacture of equal popularity. Next Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock Draper will take one of his stock five passenger, 30 horse power cars and hitch it to three wagons loaded with lumber, the combined weight of the latter being 26,000 pounds. From a standing start he proposes to haul the big load through the business sections of Fourth and Main streets. If the passenger car can walk off with a load like that from a standing start, it sure will be performing some stunt. Draper has no doubt about the result, and he will challenge the agents of any gear-driven car in the city to duplicate the feat.

The celery crop has all been harvested now. The last shipment went off last Wednesday. The car was loaded by S. E. Talbert and F. D. Plavan and was shipped from Wintersburg.

S. E. Talbert completed the levee on the river near Farnsworth's ranch last Wednesday.

Mrs. Jane Clapp of Glendale visited her brother-in-law, Sam Clapp, for a few days this week.

A supper and dance was given by the young people of the community at the Japanese Hall last Saturday night. A nice quiet crowd was present and everything passed off very pleasantly.

SOLVING THE PROBLEMS OF WATER FOR IRRIGATION

If You Contemplate Installing a PUMPING PLANT or an INDUSTRIAL POWER PLANT, Consult with the LAYNE & BOWLER CORPORATION

M. R. SHIPLEY, Manager Santa Ana Office

Source of the Underground Water Supply of This Section Discussed by an Eminent Authority

EFFECT OF RAINFALL ON ARTESIAN SUPPLY

ORANGE COUNTY LEADS IN NUMBER OF PUMPING PLANTS

"No other area of equal size in the state has as many pumping plants for irrigating as has Orange county," said Marion R. Shipley, local manager for the Layne & Bowler Corporation. "This company alone has installed over five hundred plants here in the last three years. The Edison company furnishes electricity for pumping purposes equal to a connected load of more than 14,000 horse power, and gasoline is used in many instances."

ECONOMICAL MEANS OF SECURING WATER FOR IRRIGATION

Orange county's climate and soil cannot be equalled in the world for the growth of Valencia oranges, lemons, walnuts, beets, beans, celery, peppers and various kinds of vegetables, but these gifts of nature would be comparatively valueless were it not for our inexhaustible supply of artesian water. It is true that other means of irrigation would be devised had we not this subterranean supply of water, but the cost would be so much greater and the supply would be so dependent upon the varying rainfall, that the certainty of prolific crops and the net income from them would be greatly affected.

EXPERT DESCRIBES THE SOURCE OF SUB- TERRANEAN SUPPLY

The value of such an abundant rainfall as we have had this winter—or, rather, its effect in replenishing the subterranean deposits from which we get our artesian water, is an interesting subject to the people of Orange county. In order to get a view of the subject from a scientific standpoint, the writer interviewed H. Clay Kellogg, the well known hydraulic engineer, Mr. Kellogg said:

"That this valley is a conglomerate mass of fill, made by the Santa Ana river and the wash from the hills and mountains, has been demonstrated by the numerous wells bored and wellpits constructed throughout the valley. This material is composed of alternating strata of clay, sand, gravel and boulders, which are more or less connected, as demonstrated by the continuity of the water plane and the effect upon it made by wells and pumping plants, and also by the water applied to the surface, which is readily perceived out in the central portions of the valley, when water is applied in considerable amounts for any length of time, but not apparent at those points where the river wash is covered up to greater depths by the wash from the hills.

EFFECT OF RAINFALL ON ARTESIAN WATER SUPPLY

From the above basis we proceed to find how this water supply may be replenished by the rainfall. In the first place, the relative depth of the plane of saturation is governed by the elevation of the surface above sea level, and as to whether this plane is fed by waters applied to the surface by rainfall or otherwise, is governed by the fact whether there is a continuous connection of the moisture from the surface to said saturated plane. If the rainfall is not sufficient to wet down to a connection with the lower plane, it does not add to the underground supply. The underground supply is also fed by water placed upon the lands by irrigation in the same manner; in fact, it is more liable to occur, as the water in its distribution over the land accumulates in a greater depth in low places and in furrows, and through seams and porous strata finds its way more readily to the water plane. This amount termed "return irrigation" is variously estimated at from 18 to 33 per cent of the amount of water placed on the lands. I am confident that the return waters from the irrigation are already a factor of considerable moment to the supply on the lower levels. But the largest factor in supplying the subterranean water in this valley is the runoff from the mountain watershed through the different water courses principally the Santa Ana river. During the dry seasons when the rainfall is only from 6 to 9 inches as it was last year—little or no water passes down into the valley from the Santa Ana river and the effect is immediately shown by the lowering water plane, and is observed in the numerous wells and pumping pits throughout the valley. The average lowering in the central portion last year was fourteen feet. Consequently the pits had to be lowered. This condition could be observed all through last summer and fall. After the heavy rains in 1909 the water rose in many of the pits around Anaheim 15 to 20 feet, causing great damage to them in many instances where they were not substantially built. Mr. Neff, who has one of the oldest plants southwest of Anaheim, can see the water rising in his pit within six weeks after the water begins to flow past the Olive bridge, about 3½ miles above his plant. This condition is so well recognized by the Water Conservation Association that they stipulate that no water shall be spread, if the amount in the river is not sufficient to reach the Olive bridge. As an illustration of the amount that sinks into the sand, it takes 10,000 inches—200 cubic feet per second, flowing at the intake of the irrigation canals, which is one-fifth more than the maximum amount used by the two big irrigation companies. The water plane was 32 feet below the normal level before the beginning of this season.

"It requires 200 days for the snow and rain water that comes from the mountains to reach the subterranean deposits of Orange county. The extra artesian water furnished by the late heavy rains will have been exhausted before the season is over, and the farmers who have not prepared for this possible emergency are unwise."

Competition among pump manufacturers often makes it difficult for the farmer to decide what kind of a pump he will install. Therefore, it is profitable that the merits of various pumps should be discussed, and in this issue we shall take up the Layne centrifugal pump. The fact that so many of these pumps have been installed in Orange county and other farming and fruit growing districts of California would certainly lead one to believe that they have been an important factor in revolutionizing the irrigation system of the state, as it no doubt has been revolutionized in the last three or four years.

LAYNE PATENT SCREENS SOLVE DIFFICULTY OF SAND CHOKING WELLS

Under the old system the pipe was perforated with a few slots after the casing was set in the well, or the pipe was bored full of holes and wound with round wire very close together, and as soon as the power was applied the fine sand would pack against the round wires and wedge itself between them and the supply was soon cut off by the strainer becoming choked with sand. To overcome this a form of wire was designed having a flat, smooth surface on the outer side, but so constructed that sand, having passed the knife-like edges presented on the outer surface would pass freely through into the pipe and be pumped out with the water.

HOW DIFFICULTY OF SINKING WELLS THROUGH QUICKSAND WAS OVERCOME

The next problem which presented itself was the designing of a pump which would handle large quantities of water and which could be installed in wells or pits of small diameter at a depth which would supply the necessary amount. The sinking of a pit or pump through quicksand or under water had heretofore been considered by the farmer impossible. The building of a centrifugal pump which could be installed in a well or steel pit of small diameter at a great depth, and which would handle the large quantities of water and sand without injury, had never yet been accomplished.

Mr. Layne successfully accomplished the first by using a 24-inch pit made of steel, and by using heavy hydraulic drilling machinery. He has found that this pit can be installed to any desired depth in much the same manner as the wells are drilled through the quicksand. The designing and building of an irrigation pump small enough to be installed in the bottom of this steel pit or large diameter of well was the next problem of the inventor, which was only accomplished by years of hard labor and experiment.

CONSTRUCTION OF LAYNE MULTI-STAGE CENTRIFUGAL PUMP

The Layne patent multi-stage centrifugal pump is so constructed that it will pass freely on the inside of a pit or casing ranging in size from 9½ to 29 inches, and can be installed at any desired depth, there being no ungainly side discharge or shoulders so common in other makes of centrifugal pumps. After having the pump installed in our steel pit, we have a continuous line of steel shafting enclosed in a pipe through which a bath of oil from the head of the pump passes continually, thereby preventing wear and causing the shaft to run perfectly cool. The shafting is also held in line by sufficient number of bearings which are located on the inside of the small pipe. The discharge pipe, which varies with the size of pump, is screwed into a flange in the top of same, and from this discharge pipe, which connects with the discharge "tee" at the top of the pit, the pump is suspended like unto a carpenter's "plumb," thereby absolutely insuring the perfect alignment of the shafting. On the inside of this discharge pipe in the center thereof passes the small pipe, which contains the lubricant and also the shafting and bearings. The water passing up through the discharge pipe surrounds this small pipe with water, thereby keeping the oil bath cool and preventing the phosphor bronze shaft bearings from heating.

At the point of discharge, above the surface of the ground, is located the discharge "tee" or pump head. This head screws on to the top of the discharge pipe, and through this head passes the shafting, at the top of which is keyed an over-hung pulley which varies in size in keeping with speed desired, or connection for direct connected motor. Just below the pulley is located the patented slow speed roller thrust bearing, which sustains the weight of the shafting and runners, and is encased in a bath of oil which is kept perfectly cool by the flow of water under the same.

ADJUSTMENTS CAN BE MADE FROM SURFACE WITHOUT REMOVING PUMP

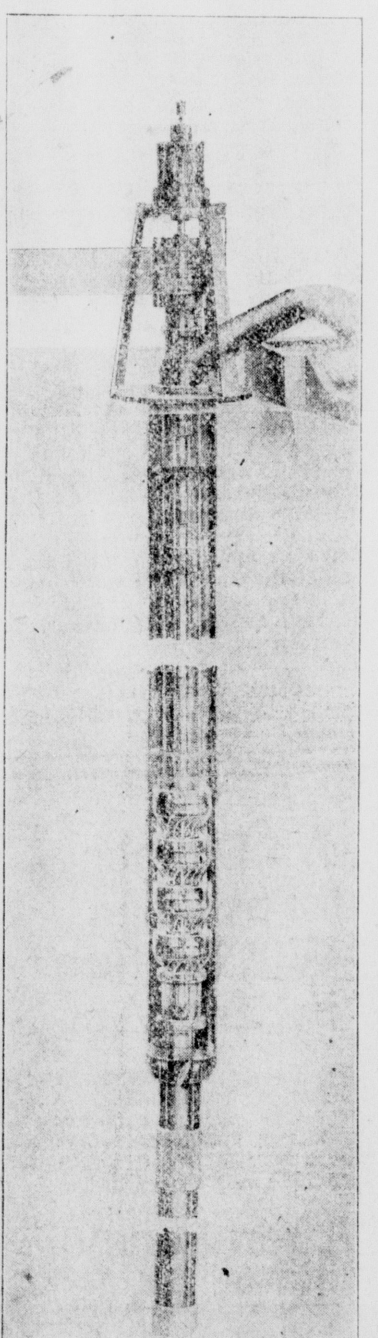

The runners are adjusted from the surface without the necessity of removing any of the working parts of the pump. By this means the runners can be raised or lowered from the surface without having to go down into the pit. This is one of the greatest advantages, as any irrigator will certify who has risked his life by going down into the old style dug pits, always reeking with stench from dead rabbits and decaying matter, to say nothing of the risk of becoming entangled in the revolving shafting or becoming thoroughly soaked in the grease and oil always present in the old style pit.

DIFFERENT PUMPS DESIGNED TO MEET VARYING NEEDS

The pumps are designed and built for the different conditions under which they are required to operate in keeping with the capacity and the pressure against which they must work. It has been found by experiment that a pump which will go into a pit or casing having a diameter of about 9½ inches for handling from 150 to 500 gallons of water per minute is the smallest size of centrifugal pump advisable to be used; while on the other hand, a pump having a diameter of from twenty-four to thirty inches and which will handle from 1500 to 4500 (5000 miners) gallons per minute, is sufficiently large to deliver the water supply found in any of our best wells. These pumps are built in one or more stages, in keeping with the lift required.

By using two runners or more in the pump, the speed of the shafting is reduced under fixed heads, and the life of the pump is lengthened. No soft packing gland is required in this pump, even though the water supply should recede below the pump to the suction limit during the time the pump is in operation, as the lower runner discharges the water into the upper runner, thus keeping the upper runner submerged and obviating the necessity of a "stuffing box" or packing gland in the pump.

The use of the patent steel pit interlocking coupling will prevent the well from settling and becoming separated from the pit, and also prevent the danger of sand being pumped from below the pit. The writer has talked with many farmers using the Layne pump and they all agree that this is such an important matter that no man should install a plant without first investigating thoroughly. Of course, these men believe that the Layne pump is the best and much the cheapest in the end.

THE FUTURE OF HUNTINGTON BEACH

Under this heading the Huntington Beach News has an editorial that is far and away bigger and better than a mere boost article. Not only does it outline with truth, wisdom and vision the great future of the beach city, but it enunciates a broad general principle of community life and growth that all places, big and little would do well to recognize. In a word it is this—that what helps one part of a town or county helps all parts of it, and that no town or county can grow and prosper that is cursed by a narrow sectional spirit. That is why the Register is always as ready and willing and glad to boost for any and all parts of Orange county as for Santa Ana.

"No fact was ever more thoroughly established," says the News, "than the one that the future growth of Huntington Beach will be rapid. One prominent business man stated a few days ago that Huntington Beach was sure to grow remarkably fast if the people now here would only let it grow. He referred to a few citizens who are frightened if there is any talk of improvements being made in any other section of the city than the one in which they happen to be directly interested. It is high time that such taxpayers, if there are any, are outgrowing such an attitude, as it would appear that it must be apparent to everyone who is really interested in the future growth of this splendid little city, that if one section grows, it naturally follows that every other section is indirectly benefited.

"And that it is absolutely impossible for any developments worth mentioning to materialize without every part of the city taking on new life; of course some localities will show greater gains than others as is always the case when a community develops rapidly. With the completion of the new pier, which extends a quarter of a mile into the old Pacific, Huntington Beach will be on the map, and is going to grow like some of the other towns up the coast have grown in the past few years. Don't say you hope so anyway, as most of us usually do; but say there is no doubt about it. It is the history of municipalities that no town on earth ever prospered and gained rapidly in population unless its citizens were imbued with a strong spirit of optimism and extolled its advantages to the world early, late and often. They were filled to the overflowing point with the idea that they lived in the best town in the universe and were never content unless they were telling somebody about it.

"Take a mercantile establishment, for instance. It is just exactly what the owner makes it, nothing more or less, and never can be. If he puts enough of honest and intelligent energy behind it, that business will grow and prosper and nothing on earth can prevent it. And it is the same with Huntington Beach. The citizens here own it and it is going to be just what they make it and nothing more, and the sooner every resident realizes this fact thoroughly, the sooner the town will take on new life and start off at a pace that may make some of us dizzy-headed.

"It can be truthfully stated that there is no finer location for a beach town on this continent than the beautiful mesa upon which Huntington Beach is situated. Now, has it occurred to you what a tremendous asset that statement is when backed by a united, optimistic citizenship?"

THE "UNEMPLOYED"

Not only do the "unemployed" constitute a serious rift within the life of California springtime. In New York and other cities large bands of the same brand "unemployed" have been marching around to the churches. They pile into the front seats, disturb the calm of meditation and the spell of music. They are a grotesque picture amid stately columns and the pictured story of religious tradition.

Of course it is all a grandstand play, done for advertising. No doubt many of these men were unwilling to shovel snow in the recent storm. Yet this fantastic contrast of human failure on one side, and the power and influence and social position of the Christian church on the other, is an incident suggesting thought.

The ministers and priests in charge of services thus interrupted seem to have felt much embarrassment. They are not alone in that. Every conscientious churchman and every sympathetic man feels it when he meets

FACTS AND FIGURES REFUTE CHARGES OF EXTRAVAGANCE

Apocryphal charges of extravagance made by unfair reactionary newspapers against Governor Johnson's administration it is interesting to note the facts.

Here are the appropriations and expenditures by the state from 1905, with percentages of increases:

1905.....$ 9,968,433 Increase over 1903.....325.29
1906.....11,354,364 Increase over 1905.....13.903
1907.....13,412,713 Increase over 1907.....18.128
1908.....15,521,094 Increase over 1908.....13.852
1909.....17,857,628 Increase over 1909.....14.729

It should be made plain what caused the increase of appropriations in 1913. In 1911 an election was held for certain constitutional amendments and, at that election the Railroad Commission Public Utilities Amendments were adopted by the people, making mandatory the maintaining of the Railroad Commission as a Public Utilities Commission and the constitutional amendment relating to Workmen's Compensation was adopted so that it became the duty of the legislature to enact the Workmen's Compensation Law. At the election in 1912 Free Text Books were adopted by the people, making it mandatory that the state provide free text books.

Under these constitutional amendments, therefore, the following sums had to be appropriated by the legislature BECAUSE OF THE VOTE OF THE PEOPLE:

Free Text Books.....$510,000
Railroad Commission.....368,000
Workmen's Compensation.....267,000

Total.....$1,145,000

If from the appropriations for 1913 THESE APPROPRIATIONS THE PEOPLE REQUIRED were deducted, we have this result:

Appropriations.....$17,857,628
Less amount voted.....1,145,000
Total.....$16,712,628

This would mean an increase of expenditures over 1911 of only 15 per cent. If deduction is made of what the people themselves voted should be expended, there is an increase in 1913 over 1911 of 15 per cent and of 1911 over 1909 of 8 per cent—A SMALLER PERCENTAGE OF INCREASE THAN EVER BEFORE.

In addition, there were certain things that were rendered necessary in 1913 by the increase in the population of the state. This applies particularly to the extraordinary increase in the south. No individual living south of Tehachapi will dare charge extravagance in appropriations rendered necessary by the marvelous increase of population in that region, and the desire of the south to accomplish certain purposes. The agricultural appropriations are also an important factor.

These new appropriations were as follows:

Training School for Girls in south.....$200,000
New Hospital for Insane in south.....250,000
Normal School, Fresno.....215,000
Los Angeles permanent exposition.....60,000
San Diego Exposition.....200,000
Citrus Station and buildings, Southern California.....245,000
State University, Agricultural College increase for farms and horticulture.....440,000

Total.....$1,610,000

Adding this $1,610,000 to the $1,145,000 appropriated under mandate of the people, makes a total of $2,755,000 of necessary new things in conjunction with Southern California and the constitutional requirements of the people. Taking now the total appropriations with the deduction of these necessary new things and those under mandate of the people, we have this:

Total appropriations.....$17,857,628
Mandatory and new.....2,755,000
Ordinary appropriations.....$15,102,628

This means an increase over 1911 of the 1913 appropriations, in reality, of .339 or 33.9 per cent.

We may take all of the appropriations in 1911 and 1913 including those the people required, and those Southern California required and our increase of percentage in 1913 is .08285 and in 1913 229, making an average of .155 per cent for the two sessions of the legislature.

It will be observed that the average increase for the previous administrations was even greater than this. Deducting those things that the people required and that Southern California required and desired, the increase is 8 per cent in one session and 2 per cent in the other of the Progressive state administration.

Now, in addition to all these new expenditures, the state has entered upon new governmental policies. The Civil Service Commission required an appropriation of $50,000; the Immigration Commission $50,000; the Minimum Wage Commission $30,000 and the Reclamation Board which has charge of the flood control of the state, $50,000. The present administration found itself with the Santa Barbara Normal School established but no buildings, and it has had to pay for all of the same, aggregating $150,500 for the necessary buildings for that school.

A good deal has been said about the cost of new commissions in the state. If the cost of every commission in the state of California was assessed against the people the tax per annum would be less than one bit to each taxpayer. One decision of the Railroad Commission alone has saved enough money to the people of the state to maintain all of the commissions in the state of California for an indefinite period.

the concrete case. What shall he do for some wreck of humanity that begs alms? The churchman, in fact every one who even theoretically approves the Christian message, is under bonds to help the unfortunate. Yet the man who so pitifully begs for the dime for bread, may propose to spend it at the corner saloon.

The man who shows any desire to get work is worth a hearing. It is worth a busy Christian's time for a few moments to listen to his story, to offer every friendly suggestion that can be made. But it may be much better to telephone over to a restaurant and order a meal than to toss him a coin. But even at that there is the pathetic fact that injudicious giving more turns the soliciting of charity into a trade.

Any employment agency that finds work for the workless is the most practical of philanthropies. Every town having a floating population, every neighborhood in a city, ought to have one. Church people should give such an institution their most cordial support.

AND NOW NEW JERSEY

The New Jersey Legislature has submitted woman suffrage to the people. It will be voted on this year. That makes seven states where it will come up this year, and what with initiative petitions out in Maine and Arkansas and Michigan, there may be ten. The women are taking long steps; no wonder they have to slit their skirts.

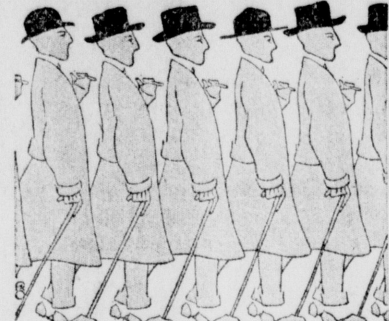

However, they needn't crow. In Georgia the age of consent is ten years and the Mississippi legislature has just refused to raise the age of consent above twelve years! So long as those barbarisms exist women need not feel that the world is going too fast.—William Allen White in California Outlook.

AMUSEMENTS

The Edison Talking Pictures
The Kinetophone, or Edison Talking Pictures, will be seen here for the first time at the Grand Opera House soon. Just as wonderful as was his invention of the original moving picture is the latest discovery of the great wizard Edison. It is predicted for the Kinetophone that real flesh and blood actors on many stages in the various theaters throughout the country will soon be a thing of the past. To judge from the little gasps of astonishment and the chorus of "Isn't that something wonderful" that one hears on all sides wherever the pictures are exhibited, the Kinetophone may be called an immense success.

The Princess
A splendid set of pictures were shown last night at the Princess and will be shown again today and tonight. The two-reel Majestic feature, "The Portrait of Anita," is a pretty Spanish drama picturing life and scenes during early mission days, and proved very entertaining.

Wednesday and Thursday of next week brings one of the finest silent dramas ever produced, "Winter's Tale," in three parts, from Shakespeare's famous writing.
Don't forget that Friday and Saturday, March 20 and 21, brings the first installment of "Our Mutual Girl."

HELEN KELLER'S STORY THRILLS HER AUDIENCE

Marvelous Achievement of Teacher, Mrs. Anne Macy, is Appreciated--
Blind Woman Speaks

Hearing the story of Mrs. Macy, who told of breaking the fetters that bound Helen Keller, deaf, dumb and blind, and seeing Helen Keller and hearing Helen Keller, many hundreds of people of this city today marvel at the conquest that has been secured. The thrill of the wonderful story is one that people will never forget.

Boundless patience and perseverance on the part of teacher and pupil, and earnestness that seems to have been transformed into a more animal child into a splendid woman, refined, educated and advancing. The things that have been done in spite of obstacles were made so plain yesterday that they ceased to be miraculous, though none could help wondering that human beings could do it.

Under the auspices of the Ebell Society of the Santa Ana Valley, Miss Keller and her teacher were brought here, for two appearances at the Grand Opera House. The first was yesterday afternoon and the second last night. At each, Mrs. A. J. Lawton, president of the Ebell, introduced Mrs. Macy.

For the evening lecture, every seat in the Grand Opera House was taken, including the boxes. The matinee brought out a big house, almost to capacity. In her introduction, Mrs. Lawton declared that bringing Mrs. Macy and Miss Keller to Santa Ana would always be counted one of the great events in the history of the Ebell.

Mrs. Macy is an unusually good speaker. Her voice is clear and her articulation perfect.

"It was twenty-seven years ago," said she, "that I went to Tusculum, Alabama, to teach a little deaf, dumb and blind girl. Helen's parents had heard of the wonderful work Dr. Howe had done in Boston in teaching Laura Bridgman. When they came to his school for help I was the only pupil who could be sent to their child. I was myself at that time almost totally blind. I had no idea of becoming a teacher. I was not prepared except that I had a knowledge of the manual alphabet.

A Young Animal
"When I went to Helen, she was six years and eight months old. She was healthy, active as a young animal in striving against the bars that shut her off from the world. In those days she went about the house fearlessly, stumbling and rolling about much in the manner of a young puppy. Helen had not always been blind. Her affliction was caused when she was nineteen months old by acute congestion of the stomach. When I first saw her she was standing in the doorway of her home in Tusculum. All day long she had seemed to sense that something unusual was about to happen."

After telling how Helen broke into a tempest of anger when her parents forbade her to get into the new comer's bag, and how the tempest subsided when she was given her teacher's watch, Mrs. Macy said that Helen at that time had a number of primitive signs by which she made known her wants. A nod of the head meant "yes"; to her, a shake of the head, "no." This latter a sign which she very seldom obeyed. When she was hungry she pointed to her mouth. When she wanted ice cream she made a motion of turning an ice cream freezer. Her most terrible outbursts of temper followed her ineffectual efforts to make herself understood.

"What were the materials we worked with?" Mrs. Macy continued. "Precisely the materials you work with in the case of a normal child. The normal child has wants to be satisfied—that is the reason for language. Helen's use of the words 'doll' and 'cake' was almost immediate. In twenty-five days she had learned eighteen nouns and three verbs."

"As a result of Helen's outbursts of mental activity at the pump when she grasped the meaning of the word 'water,' the secret of language was revealed to her. From then on she learned new words rapidly. She was transformed from a baffled little animal into a radiant child. By the fourth month Helen was writing letters. In six months she was reading stories translated from Greek mythology.

"In her games she was resourceful, like other children keeping for herself the star part. She was very fond of playing at rescuing the 'babies in the woods.' Red Riding Hood was one of her favorite games. I was Grandma and the wolf in the game which we played with a real bed. At the end I would spring at her from the covers. I always thought that she was just a little glad when this part of the game was over."

"She dosed her dolls for all the illness that came into the neighborhood. On her eighth birthday Dr. Edward Everett Hale came to see her. She told him: 'Hush with me! Nancy (the doll) is very sick.' Dr. Hale volunteered to care for Nancy, that Helen might go to play. She gave him in detail all the directions for taking care of Nancy, as to when her medicine should be taken. And then before she left him she insisted that these directions be written down, because, as she said, 'Man has too many forgets.'"

"In those days we lived most of the time out of doors and learned from anything that grows. Helen loved everything that grew. Some of her comments on nature were amusing. A persimmon not ripe brought forth this descriptive comment: 'It pulls me together all over!'"

Child Learns Rapidly
"She learned while playing. She learned so fast, that it was a question whether the teacher led the pupil or the pupil drove the teacher. I made it a rule to change a lesson the instant Helen was no longer paying attention. In those years I had moments of depression. We were making rapid progress, but I was haunted by the fear that because our work was so pleasant there was something wrong in it."

"It is true that Helen owes her education to me. It is also true that I owe my education to her. I had to educate myself to keep up with her. I do not know whether I am proud or ashamed that Helen has outstripped me. She has learned more of Latin and of Greek than I know. And she thinks she knows more than I do of economics and socialism."

In concluding, Mrs. Macy told how Helen learned to speak, of the four years passed at Radcliffe College, where she got her degree of Bachelor of Arts, of her acquaintance with many of the foremost men in literature, science and music of today, and of her absorbing interest in the current events of the world about her. Mrs. Macy said her pupil had, during all these years, kept her primal simplicity and vivid curiosity. She attributed Helen's wonderful progress to her patience, her courage and her restlessness will.

Miss Keller Talks
Led to the stage by her teacher, Miss Keller was received with hearty applause. She said in part: "My teacher has told you how all was dark in my life, how every light was kept from me, how I awoke to the sunshine of life. I was blind; now I see; I was deaf; now I hear; I was dumb; now I speak. (Applause.) "If others are helped, we shall be glad. We rejoice in the obstacles that we have overcome. The hand of God has wrought this miracle in me. It was through Him that I found my father and mother, found my soul. Without my teacher, I should be nothing. We live for each other. The life of all of us live for one another is the only life worth living. Alone we can do little; together we can do much."

"Do you wonder that I love the hand that gave me this wondrous power, that has given me an opportunity of finding life beautiful? My life has taught me to say in the words of the Psalms: 'Thou hast put gladness in my heart. I will both lay me down in peace and sleep for Thou, Lord, only makest me dwell in safety.'"

"Most of us have not begun to use the wonderful things God has given us. It is not more difficult to teach a blind person to see than it is to teach an ignorant man the splendor of the sunset. "The starless night of blindness has its blessings. Look, listen, feel, put thought into action, and every day you will wonder at the beauty, the richness and the power that comes through your eyes and ears. The world is full of miracles. Look for them and you will find them."

Following Miss Keller's address, she answered questions from the audience. Mrs. Macy explained how Miss Keller read sounds by her fingers. The blind woman placed her thumb of the hand on the larynx, the forefinger on the lips and the middle finger on the nose, the thumb to catch the throaty sound, the forefinger to catch the lip sounds and the middle finger to catch the nasal sounds.

As a question was asked from the audience, Mrs. Macy repeated it to Miss Keller, whose left hand rested upon Mrs. Macy's face. Without an instant's hesitation, Miss Keller answered, sometimes repeating the question. "Are you happy," was one question. "Yes, the world is very bright, though there are some dark spots that I should like to see made light." "Do you sense the applause?" "By the vibration of my teacher's feet." It had been noticed by some that when there was applause Mrs. Macy had tapped her foot on the floor so that Miss Keller would quit talking.

When asked if her parents were living, Miss Keller said that they were and that her mother was with her. In reply to a question as to why she was a Socialist, she said that she believed Socialism seeks the betterment of the world. Miss Keller's voice was hard for many to understand. Speaking is evidently a mechanical effort, and careful articulation and breathing were evident.

Genuine Sympathy.
Mrs. Macy stated last night for herself, Miss Keller and Miss Keller's mother, that they had received more genuine sympathetic treatment in Santa Ana than anywhere they had been in California.

"We have found," said Mrs. Macy, "that mere idle curiosity characterizes many audiences and our treatment in many places. That was not true in Santa Ana. We were shown every consideration after our arrival here. The party reached Santa Ana tired out. Immediately after the matinee, Mrs. Lawton took the party to the Rossmore Hotel, and had dinner served for them in their rooms. The party went to Los Angeles on the 9:45 o'clock car."

HOW ONE TALKS INTO HELEN KELLER'S HAND
[BY KATE K. ROBERTS]
When Benjamin F. Taylor wrote a certain vivid line in "A Vision of Hands" that runs thus: "Alive as life and trained and taught," he surely must have had a soul-illumining vision of the exquisitely fashioned hand of Helen Keller; that sensitive, quivering hand that links her with heaven as well as with all the interests of this fascinating and friendly world, its sorrows, aspirations and deductions, its wisdom and its ignorance; links her and binds her fast to the hearts of men and women and little children. Through the medium of that wonderful hand the writer had the deep and tender experience yesterday of reaching Helen Keller's marvelous mind, following the matinee lecture at the Grand. Walking into the presence of the slender young woman who had just a few moments before been alive with animation and friendly smiles for a sympathetic audience, I saw Helen Keller in an attitude of fatigue, pathetic evidence of the strain of her strenuous lecture tour and the superhuman effort of articulating with long-disused vocal organs before an audience of hundreds.

But when, without introduction, I slipped my hand in hers and began using the manual alphabet, that hand of Helen Keller's was instantly alive with life; she sat erect and her face was radiant with interest. The talk that followed—not an interview, but simply a brief call from one heart that knows intimately of the shadow of deafness, and another that had experienced to its last deep extremity—is of little note to others—but HOW I talked into Helen Keller's hand is undoubtedly of interest to many hundreds of people.

It was a simple process. Putting my hand inside of her hand, which was instantly cupped for its reception, I spelled out each word in the manual alphabet used by the deaf, the word being spelled against her palm and fingers with a slight pause after each word. At the end of each sentence a little longer pause was made. A slight quiver of the sensitive fingers of the blind and deaf girl after each letter seemed to suggest a mental appropriation of it. I spelled rapidly and she instantaneously grasped letter, word, sentence and meaning. It was awesome. While I had talked with the deaf many times in the dark by the same process, Miss Keller's blindness added to her closed hearing made the experience seem a new and supernatural one to me.

Some turn in the conversation elicited this touching sentence from Helen Keller that is surely a message to the sympathetic hundreds of Santa Ana people who listened to her message yesterday and last night: "You have all been so beautiful to me." The message was spelled with hurried, heartfelt emphasis from that sensitive hand of marvelous Helen Keller.

FATHERS' MEETING

Rousing Success Was Event at McKinley School—Irish Lore and Song

The entertainment and supper given last evening at the kindergarten by the McKinley Parent-Teacher Association for the "Fathers" was a rousing success from all points of view.

After a short business session, the excellent program was opened by a song, "Why Don't You Ask Me?" by Miss Amy Bent, accompanied by Miss Imogene Tillotson; "The Origin of St. Patrick's Day," Miss Olive Newcomer; bass solo, "Where the River Shannon Flows," Mr. Vierra, who responded to an enthusiastic encore with "A Thousand Leagues Under the Sea," "What I Know of the Irish People," Rev. Francis Watry, an interesting talk and much enjoyed solo, "Sweet Isle of Dreams," Mrs. J. William Sackman, who, responding to a hearty encore, sang the sweet Irish ballad, "When I Dream of Old Erin, I'm Dreaming of You." The folk dance by the Athletic Club Girls, Miss Grace White, Miss Gertrude Potts, Miss Alice Robinson, and Miss Olive Newcomer, was certainly very pretty and was most thoroughly enjoyed, judging from the rousing applause. The girls graciously responded the third time.

The last number on the program was the "Kerry Dance," sung by the McKinley quartet, composed of Mrs. A. E. Chapman, Miss Mary F. Collins, Mrs. Wm. Moody, and Mrs. J. William Sackman, accompanied by Mrs. Paul. It was a pleasing number and on hearty applause the ladies gave a second number.

The regular round-table was to have followed, but in the merry social time the more serious discussions were cast by the wayside and a most thoroughly good time was enjoyed by all.

A supper of salads, pickles, olives, sandwiches, and home-made cake, with coffee and cream, was served to about 125 fathers, mothers and friends.

After the supper, on urgent request, accompanied by enthusiastic applause, Mr. Vierra and Mrs. Sackman each favored the company with a solo. Then followed the good-nights and every one went away expressing themselves as having had a most thoroughly good time. The committee in charge consisted of Mrs. Samuel King, Mrs. Bert Campbell and Mrs. R. Paul.

The meeting adjourned to meet again at the same place on Thursday, April 9, 1914.

Tustin P.-T. Meeting.

The Tustin Parent-Teachers association meeting was held Friday afternoon at three o'clock in the school building. Plans for the new school, opening in the fall, for the inspection of those present. With President C. E. Liu in the chair, the meeting was opened with a violin solo by Matthew Hummel. Mr. Liu related some of the difficulties which the trustees had encountered since the school bonds were first voted, and said that these difficulties were seemingly yet unsolved. Frederick H. Kroy, the architect, was asked to come forward and explain the plans, which he did very fully. Some present voiced objections to the large auditorium, when only eight class rooms had been planned for. The answer to this was that it was thought best to build an auditorium large enough to serve some time to come, while new school rooms could be added elsewhere on the grounds as needed.

Mr. Lanzworthy had looked up the law about the number of people allowed in each class room, and he also figured out on the blackboard, for those present, the increase in class size since 1910. Various objections were made to the plans, but the suggestions that were made for their improvement did not seem to solve the difficulties. Finally Jasper Leck made a motion, which was adopted, that four persons be selected at this meeting to work with the board of trustees and that the whole matter be left to them of working out something satisfactory. Accordingly John Dunstan, Fred Preble, V. V. Tubbs and S. W. Stanley were appointed as the committee.

A letter from the county federation was then read by the secretary, asking a list of those who were willing to act as speakers or workers at the federation meetings. Volunteers were asked for without response. Mrs. Dunstan, Mrs. Tubbs and Mrs. Leck were named as a committee on program for the next meeting.

It was then decided that a meeting of the trustees and the assisting committee will be held next Wednesday afternoon at the school house at 3 o'clock. The meeting then adjourned.

Economics Meeting

The Fifth Section of Household Economics met Friday afternoon with Mrs. E. H. McMeth, 24 South Birch. The house was decorated in green and white flowers and emblems of St. Patrick's day in the shape of green pigs and shamrocks. The subject for the afternoon was "Laundry." A great many helpful suggestions were made as each one responded to his name at roll call.

Mrs. C. W. Burns, Mrs. C. E. Lamme and Miss May gave some very interesting papers. There were so many useful ideas given that some of the ladies have about decided to start a laundry of their own.

A social hour followed. A color scheme of green and white was carried out in the refreshments. The shamrocks used as souvenirs had a them. The committee on program for the afternoon was Mrs. E. H. McMeth, Mrs. F. H. McElree, Mrs. C. E. Lamme and Miss May.

Will Play Cards

At the social session after the close of quarter work next Monday night, cards will be the diversion.

SCHOOL-GIRL HOSTESSES

Freshman Domestic Science Class Entertain With St. Patrick's Luncheon

The girls of the freshman domestic science class of the Poly High entertained their mothers at a 5 o'clock luncheon yesterday. Superintendent and Mrs. Cranston, Principal and Mrs. McMath and several teachers were also invited. The affair took place in the sewing room, which was transformed by greenery and choice flowers into a beautiful dining room. The table was of polished wood with hand-made dollys, each person having one dolly for the plate, one for the glass and one for the bread and butter plate. On the blackboard were the items, amount used and price of all the articles included in the luncheon; also recipes for the principal dishes. It was driven home to the mothers that the schools are certainly and surely teaching our daughters domestic science in such a thorough way that the next generation must be better home-makers than their mothers.

All of the girls in the department must take part and all must exhibit their work. One mother said to Miss Whitehead (the head of this department in the school): "I suppose they whose work was inferior were allowed to take it home." She said: "All work is on exhibition."

The guests visited the model bathroom, which is a part of the equipment of this course; saw the up-to-date sanitary sink and bath room, and many articles made by the girls, as towels, portieres, sofa pillows, etc.

The splendid menu for the St. Patrick's luncheon was faultlessly cooked and served by the girls, and the actual cost was 23 cents per plate.

The menu:
Cream of Celery Soup
Tuna Cutlets with Hollandaise Sauce
Potato Puffs
Perfection Salad
Shamrock Rolls
Green Olives

Coffee, Lemon Sherbet, White Cake
After Dinner Mints

The place cards and candle shades were made by the girls, and followed out a three-leaf clover and other Irish designs.

More Fun Than Fish

A happy fishing party made up of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. C. Post, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Haynes, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Best, Miss Cecelia Woodside, and Ralph Best, recently took their lunch baskets and started for San Juan-by-the-Sea in quest of fish.

The fishermen cooked their supper over a five-gallon oil can and then started their battle with the mighty ocean for specimens of the finny tribe.

There were a few wet feet and some cold fishermen, but all were in high spirits over the three unlucky captured fish that unwarily happened to be walking on the sand. It is said that the party returned with a catch of three scaled inhabitants of the "big drink," each of which weighed approximately two ounces.

Clover Club

Thursday afternoon Mrs. T. N. Knight was hostess to the Clover Club at her home on West Palmyra street, Orange. Fancy work and conversation occupied a greater part of the afternoon, after which all were invited to the dining room where a delicious luncheon was served. The dining room was tastefully decorated in green, favors consisting of miniature St. Patrick hats with shamrocks. Mrs. L. J. Melton was a guest of the club.

Those present to enjoy the afternoon were Mesdames E. A. Bell, H. H. Hill, T. B. Elliott, Wm. E. Elliott, E. C. Eckley, F. B. Miller of Santa Ana, and Mesdames W. B. Park, W. T. Syster, C. F. Newton and T. N. Knight of Orange. The next meeting of the club will be in two weeks at the home of Mrs. F. B. Miller in Santa Ana.

The Tustin Twelve

Mrs. Albert Fuller and Mrs. J. S. House last night were hostesses at a decidedly happy social event, entertaining the Tustin Twelve and other guests. The principal feature of the evening was an informal musical program. The beautiful Fuller home on Lyon and McFadden streets was charming with peach blossoms in vases and jardinières, and with stately cullas.

In the program of music and readings were reading by Miss Gladys Thomas and Miss Norma Wingood, the latter also playing in an instrumental duet with Vern House. Vocal solos by Mrs. J. C. Stearns and Mrs. Chas. Johnson, piano solo by Vern House and a flute selection by J. C. Stearns completed the musical offerings.

FIRE STARTED BY OIL STOVE

Wash Room Burns and House
Was Threatened by Flames
Yesterday

(By Staff Correspondent.)
ORANGE, March 14.—A wash room at the home of Miss Lulu Evans, at 319 East Maple avenue, was practically destroyed yesterday afternoon by fire. The fact that the wind was blowing in the right direction was all that saved the house, as the wash room stood almost against it.
The fire originated from a blue flame oil stove which had been left unwatched for a few moments. How the flames spread is not known. Nothing was saved from the room but a trunk. Active manipulation of a garden hose saved the house, while the fire department did fine work on the fire itself and prevented more serious damage.

POLY NINE DRUBS "TIGER" PICK-UPS TO TUNE OF 8 TO 3

Yesterday afternoon on the Poly High grounds the local high school boys handed the Tiger Pickups a sound drubbing to the tune of 8 to 3. Thirty Smith, Santa Ana's old first sacker, was in charge of the pickups, and demonstrated that he has not forgotten how to play the game. Squires, for the Tigers, did the heavy stick work, connecting with Warren's benders for a safety every trip to the plate.

"Bill" Warren was in good form, but the loose work of his teammates robbed him of a shut-out.

Oxy opened the scoring in the first but it was not until the third that the locals opened up by pushing three men across the plate. Oxy scored again in the fourth and fifth and that was all the scoring they managed to do. The Poly High had scored again in the fifth by ringing the bell four times, and once more in the sixth.
The game ended in the seventh with Santa Ana a winner, 8 to 2.
Score by innings:
Oxy 1 0 0 1 1 0 0 3
Santa Ana 0 0 3 0 4 1 8

LOS ANGELES PRODUCE MARKET

The past week has seen considerable activity in the cheese market, the production season being at its height. The local market has not been as much affected in the way of price reductions as the northern market, which is nearer the base of supplies and moves more readily than Los Angeles on the immediate daily supply. Here quotations have held fairly well. In San Francisco the market was down to 15 1/2 cents early in the week and yesterday jumped to 16 1/2 cents. Receipts of the product were 2350 pounds of the north. Oregon cheese has just about been cleaned up here and only a few of the dealers are quoting it. Eastern cheese is very firm and is going up, if anything, on the small available supply. It will be the end of next month before Oregon cheese begins to arrive in large quantities, and it will be another month before any eastern fresh cheese appears here.
The demand for eggs was good yesterday morning, but there was no rise in the quotations. Receipts were the largest for the week and totaled 940 cases. But arrivals amounted to 38,190 pounds. The demand for second grades was fair and prices on these are steady at the present low figures.

EELS GIVEN THE DIVORCE

Garden Grove Rancher Wins
Decision in Hotly Contested Case

This morning Judge Thomas rendered a decision in the contested divorce case of George Eells, a Garden Grove nurseryman, against Edith Eells, a Los Angeles attorney. By the decree Eells is given the divorce and his Garden Grove property is declared to be his own separate property. A declaration of homestead put upon the property by Mrs. Eells is made void. A lot in Los Angeles is declared community property, but another piece of property in Los Angeles is left for the Los Angeles courts to handle. Mrs. Eells declares that the property was deeded to Eells, the deed to be recorded in the event of her death only, but that when she was arrested for disturbing the peace Eells got the deed and recorded it.

Judge Thomas roasts the woman and some of the witnesses for the testimony they gave. Some of it, the judge says, ought never to be spoken.

GLASS DENIES NAMING
RESERVE BANK CITIES

WASHINGTON, March 14.—Representative Glass today denied that he has given out any intimation of the eleven cities to be selected for regional banks under the new reserve law. He said he had merely named some cities as illustrations of how it should work, and that these were not necessarily final selections. He said: "Of course anyone can figure that out. Chicago, St. Louis, San Francisco and New York will be reserve cities, but I know nothing about others."

IS WAITING FOR DEED ACROSS

Highway Engineer Wants to Know What James Irvine
Has Decided About It

W. Lewis Clark, division engineer of the State Highway Commission, wants to get the right-of-way for the state highway through this county cleared up. The intimation of a letter sent by him to District Attorney West is that further work toward building the state road south from Santa Ana is delayed because no deed has been received from James Irvine for the highway across the Irvine Co. ranch.

A copy of the letter written by Engineer Clark was sent to the Board of Supervisors. The letter states that some time ago Clark, State Highway Commissioner, Darlington and Attorney C. C. Carlton of the commission had a talk with Irvine in regard to the deeds. Irvine stated that he would think the matter over and would inform the district attorney as to his decision.

The letter states that no word has been received concerning the matter.

and that the state highway plans in this section are held up in consequence, Clark wants to know what has been done about it.

The letter also states that the State Highway Commission took the word of the Board of Supervisors that deeds would be secured by the county for the road between Santa Ana and the county line at La Habra. On account of the urgent need for the road, the commission had overlooked the fact that deeds were not secured before the contract was let. Now the road is nearly finished, and all the deeds have not been received.

The answer to the latter portion of the letter will probably be that some property owners would not sign deeds and condemnation proceedings had to be brought and are still pending.

Put aside—just once—the Salts, Pills, Castor Oil or Purgative Waters which merely force a passageway through the bowels, but do not thoroughly cleanse, freshen and purify these drainage organs, and have no effect whatever upon the liver and stomach.

Keep your "insides" pure and fresh with Cascarets, which thoroughly cleanse the stomach, remove the undigested, sour food and foul gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system all the constipated waste matter and poisons in the bowels.

A Cascaret tonight will make you feel great by morning. They work while you sleep—never gripe, sicken and cost only 10 cents a box from your druggist. Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then and never have Headache, Biliousness, Coated Tongue, Indigestion, Sour Stomach or Constipated Bowels. Cascarets belong in every household. Children just love to take them.—Advertisement.

HOMESTEADER TO TRAVEL
2500 MILES BY OX-TEAM

REGINA, Sask., March 14.—Twenty-five hundred miles by ox-wagon, is the journey on which Charles Wasmen started today. Leaving this city in a swag-backed prairie schooner mounted on runners, Wasmen intends to journey slowly southward and, barring accident, arrive at Belleville, Ill., next September. He declared before leaving that he had no particular object in driving oxen except to surprise his friends and relatives in Belleville. Wasmen is a Saskatchewan homesteader and before leaving secured the endorsement of the Regina Board of Trade in his venture. He expects to make twelve miles a day at first but after the oxen become hardened, will try to cover twenty miles.

BEING EXPERIENCED CITRUS GROWERS
AND KNOWING THE CONDITIONS NECESSARY FOR DEVELOPING "CITRUS GROVES THAT PAY"

We are offering the North Whittier Heights Subdivision on the market as an ideal location in which to grow orange, lemon, grape fruit and avocado orchards.

The property has a deep rich loamy soil, easily worked at all times, an excellent air drainage and foothill protection to the extent that it is free of damaging frosts and winds, and last but not least the water system which supplied these lands and which goes with the property free of bonded indebtedness is conceded to be a model of efficiency and one of the cheapest in operating expense in the southland.

Experienced citrus growers and nurserymen are investing at North Whittier Heights which is an assurance that it has the necessary conditions for success and that the price is right.

The property is being sold in unplanted tracts of 5, 10, 15 and 20 acres or in 5 and 10 acre tracts set to lemon, orange and grape fruit trees and on easy terms if desired. We will also care for groves for non-resident purchasers at a minimum cost.

If you are contemplating an investment in a property of this kind, we shall be pleased to have you call for, phone or write for full information of the property and descriptive folder containing map of Southern California. If you wish to have us do so, we will have a representative call on you and explain the conditions and merit of the property personally and, if you can possibly be interested, to take you to see the property by automobile.
